"I would like to thank the Board of Directors for the trust they placed in me. You can count on my dedication to build the future of medmix. My diverse roles have given me the opportunity to deeply understand our business. I am excited to share these insights and drive our company's growth on this dynamic journey.

In the last years, as most companies, we had to navigate through stormy seas but we also know that stormy seas create the best sailors. We have great people with unique competences and great talent at medmix. Our aspiration is to create value for all our stakeholders, for our customers, for our employees, for our investors and for the communities where we operate. We want to further strengthen our competitiveness by customer proximity, best-in-class service level and innovation.

The creation of our new European production hub for the Industry segment in Valencia makes our supply chain more resilient, and we are poised providing highest service level and quality. This becomes even more important in a world facing increased supply chain disruption. We want to ensure that customers can continue relying on us. In the last years, medmix has built a solid base for growth in the healthcare markets. With the new site in Atlanta, we are closer to the customers in North America, the largest global healthcare market. We want to excel in innovation, whether it is in the area of sustainability, improving the workflows for the end-users and satisfying unmet customer needs. You elected me as a member of the Board of Directors of medmix for the first time in 2022. I will also be standing for re-election today to remain fully involved in medmix in the coming weeks. Upon taking up the CEO role, I will step down from the Board of Directors and be fully focused on managing the development of our group."

René Willi hands back to the Chairman, who thanks him.

Speech by Jennifer Dean, Chief Financial Officer

Jennifer Dean introduces herself and announces that she will present the key highlights of the year 2023. She states the following:

"Drug Delivery market segment continued its strong organic growth path, while Surgery market segment accelerated year-on-year in the second half to reach another record. Beauty market segment ended the year strongly even as the pace of product launch activity eased compared to the first half of the year. Dental market segment destocking effects continued into the second half of the year, as we explained in October. As Dental end markets are continuing to grow, we expect our customers' order patterns to normalize during 2024. Industry market segment revenue slowed towards the year end as customers were faced with lower demand and higher interest rates.

All the while, we continued to invest in our future growth and profitability. Our new Industry market segment plant in Spain is now able to produce our full product range, and our focus is on increasing production efficiency. Our Healthcare growth investments in Atlanta are on track, and the new plant is due to begin operations towards the middle of this year. We successfully acquired and integrated Qiaoyi into our Beauty market segment, providing us greater access to Asia, and especially China, the second-largest cosmetics market in the world. Last but not least, we took a 25% stake in AARDEX, a software-as-a-service company that focuses on medication adherence control in clinical trials. AARDEX is involved in phase one clinical trials, providing medmix the opportunity to engage with Drug Delivery customers much earlier in the product development process.

For 2024, we expect year-on-year organic revenue growth of between 4% and 6%, and an improvement of our adjusted EBITDA margin to at least 20%. The Dental and Industry market segments represent major swing factors in our shorter-term growth and profit recovery. There is still uncertainty around the timing of this recovery, with our current assumption being a trend change in the second half of the year.

Our longer-term ambitions are unchanged, based on solid market fundamentals. Given the various challenges medmix has faced during the last two years, we believe it is prudent to focus on commercial rebound and key operations projects, and to revisit our mid-term targets, when the rebound of the business is confirmed, at the end of 2024.

We have defined with the medmix management team five key priorities for 2024: 1) Continue on our path of innovation and sustainability; 2) deliver to Surgery customers from our new healthcare production site in Atlanta, USA; 3) phase out interim Industry manufacturing and ramp up production efficiency in Valencia, Spain; 4) further expand growth in China and Asia from our accretive Beauty acquisition of Qiaoyi; and 5) continue to pursue measures to streamline and improve cost effectiveness across our operations."

Jennifer Dean thanks shareholders for their attention and support and hands back to the Chairman.

The Chairman expresses his appreciation for what medmix has become as a stand-alone company, with strengths in different spaces, and touches upon the future opportunities, in particular in the space of general health and healthcare. The Chairman highlights that healthcare is one of the most exciting spaces for business and impact, with healthcare representing unique opportunities for innovation. The Chairman closes his remarks by stating that he is very optimistic regarding the future of medmix.

The Chairman announces that, at today's Annual General Meeting, 29,897,893 registered shares are represented, out of which 44,953 are represented by shareholders and 29,852,940 are represented by the independent proxy. This means that 72,5% of the registered share capital is represented today. Each registered share has a nominal value of CHF 0.01.

The proposed maximum total amount of CHF 1,500,000, unchanged from last year, is based on the compensation for seven members of the Board of Directors of medmix Ltd. The members of the Board of Directors only receive a fixed compensation to ensure their independence.
